EDMONTON REPORT

By Donald F. Smith
Special Correspondent

EDMONTON: So varied were the comments about Canada's new paper money, which made its debut in Alberta last week, that the only agreement seemed to be the old one—everybody wanted more, be it old or new.

Offering a distinct change in design from those which Canadians have been using for so many years there is less ornamentation and plainer style lettering.

Some store clerks, getting their first look, remarked that they looked like the merchandise coupons given away by soap companies. To other persons, the bills didn't look like real money. Some bank tellers were having trouble because the bills were sticking together.

There is a new feel because of a new type of paper. Not so noticeable is the size—the same in length six inches, but narrower by one-eighth of an inch, at 2 1/4 inches.

The Queen's portrait, about which both good and bad comments were made, is at the right side of the bill rather than in the traditional center location. Now, when a bill is folded, it will not affect the portrait, which will remain in good condition longer.

Across the centre top of the bill, the word "Canada" is printed in bold letters, while a faint outline of the Canadian coastline can be seen.

Probably the biggest change is on the back of the bills. Gone are the allegorical figures, which took a classicist to interpret. They are replaced by scenes of rural Canada, one for each denomination.

The picture on the back of the green-grey $1 bill looks down a country road with a grain field at one side. The back of the peach-orange $2 bill illustrates a tiny village in central Canadian countryside. The $5 bill, in blue and mauve, shows a river tumbling through a northern woods, while the salmon-purple $10 depicts a mountain peak.

The $20 bill is olive-grey with a winter scene in the Laurentian mountains of Quebec and the $30 bill, orange and grey, shows an Atlantic coast scene.

Two of the new bills did not appear immediately but it won't bother many Albertans. They are the grey $100 bill and the rose-grey $1,000 bill. The $100 note shows a lake and rolling hills, while an old covered bridge is on the infrequently seen $1,000 bill.

About $50 million worth of new bills were issued last week by the Bank of Canada—a small start at replacing the 160 million notes worth some 1 1/2 billion dollars which are in circulation at any given time. Many new bills would be taken out of circulation as soon as they were issued as currency collectors picked up complete sets—$1.198 for the designs.

The new bills, designed to give greater security from counterfeiters, represent the first change in Canadian paper currency in 17 years. Prior to that a change was made in 1935, when the Bank of Canada, the central bank set up by the government, began operations and the issuing of all currency, which previously was done also by the nation's chartered banks.

The bills still are a different size than those of the United States. That nation uses notes which are six and one-eighth inches long and two and five-eighths inches wide. Of course, the U. S. bills are all the same color, regardless of denomination.

Canada's currency has gone through many stages since the nation first was settled. In very early times barter was one of the chief methods of exchange, while foreign coins, notably French money and Spanish silver dollars, also were recognized.

Card money was paid to soldiers in 1685, pending shipment of supplies from France. To pay war debts, there was an issue of army bills in 1812. The first issue of government paper money in what now is Canada was made by Nova Scotia in 1812, while in 1848 and 1849, the right of chartered banks to issue notes worth less than $5 was withdrawn and government issue of paper currency was introduced.

Four Cars in Pile-up

Thrills and Spills At Local Stock Car Races

A pile-up involving four stock cars and another mishap in which a race car smashed into some spectator cars featured the stock car races held at Vulcan on Sunday.

In the feature race, dusty conditions caused the pile-up of four stock cars. One of the drivers, Orval Johnston of Lethbridge, received a slight nose injury in the crash and the cars involved were quite badly damaged.

In the sixth race, a stock car left the track on the south curve when its steering mechanism jammed and smashed into three cars owned by spectators, causing considerable damage. The driver, Roy Hostetler of Lomond, said he could not turn the wheel when the steering jammed.

An added thrill was given the good crowd of spectators between races when Lyle Spence of Vulcan stood on the front of a car driven by Sid Mason while he drove through a flaming board wall.

Top prize money winners in the day's races were Robert Johnson in the Central Garage entry, Jim Stuart in the Richardson and Gould entry, Steve Polzer in the Howard's Auto Sales entry, Ralph Michulin, North Lethbridge Motors, and Don Jarvie of Lethbridge. The feature race was won by Robert Johnson.

To Hold Classes In First Aid

First Aid classes will get underway again in Vulcan in the near future, and those interested in taking such classes are asked to get their enrolments in to J. Lundy Findlay as soon as possible.

It is planned to hold classes weekly on Thursday evening. They will be open to young and old, beginners or those presently qualified.

In times of peace or war, a knowledge of First Aid may prove invaluable. Remember—the life you save may be your own.

First Meeting of Home and School

The first meeting for the new term of the Vulcan Home and School will be held on Sept. 21 at 8 p.m. in the Vulcan high school.

The meeting will be concerned with the official installation of the members of the new executive. The Home and School scholarships to grade nine and twelve students will also be presented at this time.

To round out the meeting it is hoped to have Dr. Rowland of the Foothills Health Unit as speaker. A special invitation is given to all parents of pupils attending Vulcan School for the first time. Coffee will be served.

The commercial printing award was won by the Banff Craig & Canyon.

Choral-Dramatic Society Meets

The Vulcan Choral and Dramatic Society held its first meeting of the year in the basement of the United Church Monday evening.

Plans were discussed for the coming year. Several suggestions were made and it was decided that the group would present a varied program of musical selections, some time before Christmas and an opera by Gilbert and Sullivan in the spring.

Practices are to be held every Monday night at eight o'clock and all those interested in singing and having a grand time are invited to join.

Little Interest In Teen Town Club

No further progress has been reported by the organizers of the proposed Vulcan Teen Club. Officials stated to the Advocate today that there has been no response to their request for a show of public opinion.

Plans announced last week called

Will Interview County

Rural Groups See Need For Chronic Convalescent Hospital

A chronic convalescent hospital to serve the County of Vulcan is again being mooted, with several district organizations behind the project.

A meeting to arouse interest in the matter was recently held by the Red Cross FWUA, which is being aided in organizational work by the Berrywater FUA and FWUA and the Sunshine Social Club, and a public meeting is planned to enlist the active support of ratepayers of the County.

According to information received by the Red Cross FWUA, a construction grant of $500 per bed is available from the government and additional grants to help meet operating costs are made each year. In order to qualify for these grants, a chronic hospital can only be erected where it can be operated in conjunction with an acute hospital. The government advocates an H-shaped building, with patients' beds in the two wings of the "H" and the centre connecting portion used for kitchen, dining room, living room and administrative rooms. Such a building, as proposed for construction here, would have 40 beds. Chronic hospitals can be staffed by a registered nurse, matron and ward aides.

A committee of Mrs. Robert Farslow, David B. Sims and E. C. McPherson has been appointed to interview county officials. The project must be backed by the County and receive the support of County ratepayers before it can win government approval.

A most enjoyable social afternoon was spent. Two amusing and interesting contests were arranged by Mrs. Vera Thomas and Mrs. Ruth Orchard, prizes going to Mrs. L. Morsec and Mrs. Orchard.

The little Misses Laureen and Donna Crabbe brought in a gaily decorated basket, filled with many lovely and useful gifts for the bride's new home. Donna made the presentation and expressed the good wishes of the community.

Assisting the bride-elect in opening the colorfully wrapped parcels were her mother and Miss Ina Carberry.

A dainty and delicious lunch was served by several ladies of the district.

Open Full-time Kindergarten

Monday, September 20 has been set for the opening date of the full-time Kindergarten school under the direction of Miss Anne Chapman.

The school will register children who will be five years old by the first of November, and it will be held in the study of the Vulcan Church of Christ. Registration time has been set for Friday afternoon from one until four o'clock in the church study, and all children will be expected to be registered by their parents at that time.

Holding a Bachelor of Science degree, Miss Chapman has had wide experience in the field of education in Public Schools, Christian Day Schools, and the direction of youth activities for a number of years.

There will be a nominal charge for each child to defray the expenses of the project.

The one day per week kindergarten school, which has been held for the past five years, will continue as usual sometime in October under the leadership of Mrs. J. R. Chapman.

The prize winning design which will appear on the Alberta Golden Jubilee Calendar.

ed for the formation of a club for teen-agers. The organizers wish to make it clear that membership would be open to teen-agers not only of Vulcan and district but of the other towns and villages in the County, such as Champion, Carmangay, Milo, Lomond, etc.

Plans to form the organization have not been abandoned, but it is hoped that sufficient interest will be shown by the teen-agers themselves to warrant calling an organization meeting in the near future.

Large Crew To Speed Job

Sidewalk Construction To Be Under Way Soon

Deputy-Mayor J. M. Jamison presided at the regular town council meeting held Monday evening and Councillors Morrison, McAsKille, Richardson, Jesse and Findlay were present.

The Board of Public Utility Commissioners has issued a Certificate of Approval in connection with the Town's application to borrow the sum of $27,000 under the Local Improvement Act for the purpose of constructing 32 blocks of cement sidewalks.

The sidewalk construction work is to be done by Norby & Co. The contract is now being drawn up and the cement is expected this week. It is understood that the contractors plan to place a large crew on the job and have it finished in good time.

A petition signed by a number of ratepayers requesting the Council to refuse the Art Sign Co. permission to rebuild the advertising sign at the end of Vulcan Street in the same location was presented to the Council. The sign company will be asked to rebuild the sign in a different location.

E. H. Marsh was granted permission to build a 24x24 garage, estimated cost $250.

Councillor Montie Findlay was appointed deputy-mayor for the ensuing three months.

News From District Points EASTWAY

Mrs. Della Doane, Mrs. Gladys Rushfield and Mrs. Ruby Wyatt accompanied Mrs. Olive Douglas to Calgary on Sunday where they visited at the cerebral palsy home. The superintendent of the dormitory appreciates very much the ladies from all organizations visiting the home. Any canned goods or donations are greatly appreciated as the home depends largely on charity.

Norah Campbell had the September Social Club at her home last Thursday with a good turnout of 15 members and five visitors. Margaret Hill took the chair in the absence of the president. A report on the barn dance was given and approximately $160 was cleared after all expenses. A debate on whether or not to hold the annual chicken supper brought forth a vote by ballot which showed that one would not be held this year.

Mrs. Cathie Malmberg, a new member, won the contest and Mrs. Nina Wilson the raffle. Roll call was answered by "Advantages and Disadvantages of the Farm." The closing song "Happy Birthday" was sung to Anna Laughlin. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Ruby Wyatt and Olga Houlton. The October meeting will be held at the home of Chloe Marshall. The woollens have been shipped for blankets on the day of the meeting.

Mrs. Chloe Marshall and Ruth, Mrs. Nina Wilson and family and Mrs. Hamilton had a picnic dinner at St. George's Island on Sunday, when they were joined by the Joe Bells of Calgary. They later had supper with the M. P. Marshalls.

Orle Doane visited at the home of his parents last weekend. Mrs. Alberta Burgess has returned from Bowden bringing her mother, Mrs. Bennet with her.

J. N. Hill of Vancouver is visiting at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Hill.

Mrs. Ruby Wyatt was hostess to a Tupperware tea last Friday when Mrs. Freda Setters from Arrowwood entertained some 30 ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Knive are on the farm, attending to harvesting.

MOSSLEIGH

The Mossleigh Summer 4-H club was organized on March 26, 1954 with 14 members enrolling. That evening the members officially ended the Winter Club. To the new members attending the summer club, the older members served a cold supper. After the supper the organization meeting opened with the election of officers. President, Florence Grainger; Secretary, Treasurer, Doreen Christie; Vice-president, Rae Leslie; Press reporter, Jeannette Grainger and lunch convener Olive Hurl.

Good Deeds W.I. Names Conveners

Mrs. Sam White entertained Good Deeds W. I. at her home for the September meeting.

Conveners for the newly-formed committees were named: Mrs. H. I. Montgomery for United Nations and Miss V. Dennison for Social Services.

Conveners of committees on Health, Agriculture and Education read short, interesting papers under their topics, including possible curriculum changes in Alberta education, Peptide Ulcer treatment without diet, and the importance of the farmer in our western economic set-up.

In accordance with the usual custom of Good Deeds W. I., special gifts are to be selected for Mrs. D. Irwin and Mrs. J. Smith, who have married sons of members. Mrs. P. Clark was asked to take charge. The roll call of "Current Events" was well answered.

Mrs. C. Brown won the surprise package draw.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. C. L. Dennison, convener of Education. Her topic was the work of the Alberta General Curriculum Committee, as given in the Curriculum News Letter forwarded by the Provincial Convener of Education. As Alberta Women's Institutes have a representative on this educational committee, it is a matter of close interest to us, whether or not we have children affected by the present educational system.

Lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. H. I. Montgomery.

The next meeting is to be at the home of Mrs. C. L. Dennison. On May 29 the club made a trip to High River to the annual Rally Day held in the Memorial Centre. There were three teams entering the competitions. Of these two were successful to win attendance at the judging competitions in Olds. Only one team was able to go. Again Mossleigh was successful so the club is proud that Joan Leslie and Mavis Scott are going to the Toronto Fair in November.

Through the year the girls have been very busy beautifying the church grounds. Shrubbery and flowers of all descriptions were planted in the empty space by one of the town folk.

To keep in contact with all the members during summer holidays a weiner roast was held June 30. Every member was allowed to bring one friend. The party was very successful and was topped off with a sing song around the camp fire.

It is usually a tradition in the Club that when a member gets married the rest of the girls give her a kitchen shower. On July 13 a shower was held for Ava Lee Harold. Afterwards some of the girls served a very delicious lunch.

The annual garden tour was held on July 29, with 12 gardens being visited. To top the morning, part of the tour, the members with the two leaders and Miss Popoff and Mr. Bell stopped at Grainger's for a picnic lunch to which all the girls contributed. Around 4:30 the party arrived at Leslies where they discussed the marks for each girl's garden. Kay Leslie had the best garden and Florence Grainger the best shrubs. During the discussion lemonade and cake was served.

In the club there are four junior leaders Jean Leslie, Olive Hurl, Edna Piel and Mavis Scott. These girls have been helping the leaders in certain fields in project work, to teach the new members. All the girls wish to thank the two leaders for the marvelous leadership done this last year. How much all the girls have appreciated the help they have given.

THE WEATHER

Good progress was made in harvesting operations until Wednesday of this week, when rain brought work to a stop.

Swathing is estimated to be about three-quarters done, with combining just getting nicely underway.

Yields of crops that did not suffer hail damage range from fair to good.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

"SAFETY" AND "CARE" IN HARVESTING

Violation of the common-sense rules of "safety" and "care" during harvesting operations is a prelude to disaster by needless accidents, and to substantial losses in grain yield and quality owing to inefficient, careless harvesting practices.

Prevent Accidents. Every year at harvest time tractors, power take-offs, binders, swathers, combines and grain loaders take a tragic toll of farm people, including farm children. It has been found that at least one out of every ten fatal farm-tractor accidents involves children under 5 years of age. Be strict! Be careful! Don't allow small children to "ride" your tractor or power harvesting machinery. Remember too that the long hours you spend riding equipment while harvesting is responsible for greater fatigue, and therefore increases the danger of accidents occurring. Think Safety, Act Safely, and Be Safe.

Avoid Grain Losses. Faulty harvesting operations can easily be responsible for the failure of much grain to meet "top grade" standards. This is particularly true in the case of malting barley. In harvesting and threshing any grain every effort should be made to eliminate kernel injury (peeling and breaking of barley, splitting of wheat, and cracking of flax seed). Such kernel damage can be largely prevented if combines and threshing machines are properly adjusted for quality threshing. Slow cylinder speeds and keeping cylinder, concaves sieves, and wind properly adjusted at all times will reduce the amount of kernel damage.

Farm efficiency is many things. It not only includes crops and soils, methods and men, but also the "safe" and "careful" use of harvesting equipment. Prevent harvest accidents. And remember, care in harvesting will help you to reap the highest possible return from your 1954 grain crop.

ARE INSECTS DESTROYING YOUR GRAIN?

Serious infestations of stored grain by the Rusty Grain Beetle, and other insects, have been reported recently from several points in the Prairie Provinces, particularly in southern Manitoba. Such infestations are a clear warning that if favorable conditions occur, these insects may become a real menace to the safe storage of grain throughout Western Canada.

Watch That Grain. During the next few weeks, all farm-stored grain, particularly old grain, should be carefully examined for rusty grain beetle, and other insects. The adult rusty grain beetle is a flattened, reddish-brown insect about 1/16 of an inch long. It has "feelers" or antennae that are almost as long as its body. Wherever these insects become established, the grain invariably heats. Thus the rusty grain beetle damages grain not only by feeding on it, but by causing it to heat and spoil.

Control Measures. Light infestations of insects may be eliminated by transferring the grain during cold weather — the colder the better. Grain should, however, be transferred slowly, or, if possible, exposed in thin layers so that the temperature may be lowered appreciably. Cleaning the grain during transfer will remove many insects. Where grain is heavily infested with insects, however, arrangements should be made at once for proper and thorough fumigation.

Seek Advice. Any farmer who finds a serious infestation of insects in his stored grain should report the matter at once to, and seek advice from, his local Agricultural Representative, or the Stored Products Insect Laboratory, Winnipeg. Elevator Agents who find rusty grain beetles or other strange insects in their grain should notify their Superintendents at once. Early action on clean-up measures will prevent insect build-up. Now is the time to find out if your stored grain is free of insects, and in good condition.

Canada produces about two thirds of the world's asbestos. The first airplane flight across Canada was in 1920.

Letters to the Editor

ALBERTA PIONEERS BOOK AVAILABLE

Editor, Vulcan Advocate.

Dear Sir:

Just a line to inform you that I have left for sale at Mitchell Drugs and Kings Pharmacy, copies of the new book "Meet Southern Alberta". This book contains 50 historical tales of the early Pioneers and the early historical events concerning Southern Alberta.

This book is sponsored by the Southern Alberta Pioneers organization and the proceeds from the sale of same goes to the support of the Southern Alberta Pioneer's Memorial Building, which is being erected in the city of Calgary as a tribute to the early Pioneers of Southern Alberta.

ASKS SUPPORT FOR CHRONIC HOSPITAL

Dear Sir:

"You all, I am sure, feel the great need for a home for the aged in our community. Because of the hospital already being here it is very essential to have this other one close to the one already operating."

The Red Cross FWUA have begun this enterprise and are aided by the Berrywater FWUA and FUA also the Sunshine Social Club in organizing.

We realize that other organizations have tried this same project and they feel that we will not get it. However at our Dist. 12 Conference at Nanton we got the word that made us go ahead. Mrs. Taylor of Wainwright who is the Provincial president of the FWUA was present. I might add that she is a wonderful worker for the interests of the people of Alberta. She told us in her report that she had been given a grant of $500.00 per bed or a third of the initial cost, for a home for the aged. This was only last April when she took it to the legislature and was given the grant.

We wrote Edmonton and received quote: "Grants are available for chronic convalescent hospitals. However, it must be a municipality, etc. behind it. We suggest if the people in your community are behind it that you approach the county officials regarding the same."

Therefore, we had a small meeting last week and discussed the project and appointed a delegate to go to the next county meeting. From various statements, we feel that the county will be behind us. However, to obtain the government grant we must go along with them as to plans, staff, etc. I feel that the people of the County of Vulcan are broadminded enough to see this and go along with us in every way possible to get a place where old and chronically ill people may spend their last remaining days in peace and comfort.

We shouldn't have to place them in strange surroundings among strangers. They should be allowed to remain among the friends they have always known and with whom they have shared the bitter and the sweet sides of life. They have paid taxes, etc. all their lives, so let us repay them a little for all their efforts.

After we go to the county we will be having an open meeting and will if possible, have Dr. McCallum, Director of Hospitals, down to speak to us.

"We have a large number of petitions out to obtain the names of the people who are in favor of it. If you haven't signed one; if you see one please think of our own next of kin and sign your name, to give us confidence to go ahead with a happy heart, not a heavy one."

We cannot hope that everyone will be for it. However, let us remind you that everyone will become old and infirm unless God sees fit to call them at an earlier age.

Therefore, please trust us to do our level best to get a lovely place for our chronic and aged patient. "THINK FOR A HOME DREAM FOR A HOME WORK FOR A HOME AND YOU WILL GET A HOME."

Yours sincerely,
Sec. Red Cross FWUA,
Mrs. A. Parslow.

A Few Questions To Ask The Printing Peddler

When the peddler selling stationery and printing supplies solicits your business, there are a few questions which he should be willing to answer to your satisfaction.

1. Does he pay taxes in this community?
2. Can he supply your order on short notice?
3. Does he donate space in the newspaper to your local community enterprises?
4. Does he pay wages to a force of employees located in Vulcan?
5. Does his newspaper donate its entire space toward the betterment and upbuilding of this community?
6. Does he grant you every favor that you would ordinarily ask of your local newspaper?
7. Does the quality of his merchandise stand inspection?
8. Does his price include postage and insurance charges?

If he can answer ALL the above questions in the affirmative, he has an equal right to your business

IF NOT — CONSULT

"Nightgowns" for
 FIRE-FIGHTERS

WIDE-AWAKE FIRE departments may soon be turned out in a new heat-resisting suit built on the general lines of the old-fashioned nightgown. Made of reflective aluminum foil, this outfit gives the hook-and-ladder lads a lot more protection from extreme heat.

Canadian farmers have the same idea when they build their barns of aluminum sheet. Not only is aluminum fire-resistant but it also keeps barns cooler in summer because it reflects the heat of the sun; and in winter reflects back into the barn heat that would otherwise escape. In fact you might say that in the products of Canada's aluminum industry are reflected countless aids to better living—on the farm, in the city, in your own home. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. Mrs. L. Roemmele

The community was shocked and saddened when they learned of the death of Mrs. Lewis (Annie) Roemmele on the night of Wednesday, Sept. 8th. Mrs. Roemmele had been ailing for some time and had just returned a few days previously from the Claresholm hospital where she had been following a serious heart attack. She was taken to Carmangay hospital on Tuesday and died Wednesday evening.

Born Annie Foster, in North Eckford, Ont., on Aug. 27th, 1882, she and her husband came west to the Granum district in 1903. In 1911 they moved to Steveston in the Brooks district, then to the Carmangay district in 1924. They moved on their home farm in 1926 where they remained until 1939, when they moved to a house in town. Mr. Roemmele died in May 1949 and Mrs. Roemmele remained in town until her death. She is survived by two sons, Bill of Claresholm and Loren on the home farm, and one daughter, Mrs. Benson of Claresholm, several grandchildren and one great grandchild. Also one brother, Well Foster of Melbourne, Ont. and one sister, Mrs. Sylvester Marr of Lincoln, Mich.

The funeral was held from the Carmangay United Church on Saturday, Sept. 11 with the Rev. Mr. Oldring of Claresholm officiating. Interment was in Mountain View Cemetery, Lethbridge.

The chancel was a bower of flowers and the church could not accommodate the number of friends and neighbors who came to pay their last respects. The choir sang "Beautiful Garden of Prayer" and the hymns "What a Friend We have in Jesus" and "Abide With Me" were sung by the congregation. Pall bearers were Walter Neilson, Roy Church, Sid Thompson, Glenn MacFarland, Jim Minty Jr. and Alf Wynn.

Mrs. Roemmele was always active in community work being, at her death, a member of the United W. A. and also the Social Craft League and Auxiliary and her presence and help will be missed. To all the family, the sincere sympathy of the community is extended.

BANKERS ADVISE

ADVERTISING

Merchants who do not advertise are invited to read the following from the American Bankers Magazine, as it might give them a new slant on business, your own business, as well as the matter of building up your town.

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a 2-line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertiser. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business men."

With The District Agriculturist Hugh Michael

Because of the interest in seed cleaning plants and at the suggestion of a number of readers, I am publishing an article on the subject prepared by F. F. Parkinson, Agricultural Engineer. The paper was presented at the Western Weed Conference last fall:

Development of Seed Cleaning Plants in Alberta

When Alberta was opening up,
and the land was new, the weed
problem was not nearly as serious as it is at the present time. At least it was not considered serious.
Had more precautions been taken during those early years, it is highly probable that we would not have so many weeds to battle with today.

As it was, as settlement continued, and more land was broken up and cropped, more weeds also developed, both in variety, and number, until we were faced with a very serious weed problem which called for action. The Department, along with other agencies for weed control, moved to assist farmers to sow cleaner seed, on the logical assumption that the fewer weed
seeds planted, the fewer weeds
would grow.

The farm fanning mill could not cope with the many varieties of seeds, so the Department set up a policy whereby organized groups
of farmers could acquire a portable seed cleaner, to be moved from farm to farm. These units were equipped with a combination of wind and screen and disc or cylinder indent machines, of larger capacity, and better quality than the individual farmer could afford for use on his own farm. They were an improvement over the farm fanning mill, when properly operated, as they could separate seed on the three main bases of separation, that is by (a) weight, by means of a suction fan or as-pirator (b) width, by the use of screens of proper sizes, (c) length, by means of the indented discs or cylinders. The farm mills were limited to separation on weight, and width, and even then their separation was not very accurate.

Indifferent or inefficient operators, and also cold or stormy weather, reduced the efficiency of these portable outfits in many cases,
so the policy was discontinued.
There are, however, over 50 privately owned portable custom cleaners working in the Province. A few of these are exceptionally well equipped outfits, capable of cleaning to No. 1 registered seed grade.
The efficiency grades down from this type to some which can barely make the commercial grades when working on wheat.

Following the Portable Cleaner Policy, the Department secured the use of a drill hall at Camrose after the war, and set up a central plant well equipped with up-to-date machinery of larger capacity
than any of the portable units.
This plant was so successful that a new policy regarding seed cleaning plants was set up. Funds were made available under the Agricultural Service Board Act, for setting up central cleaning plants in Municipal Districts in which a Service
Board was in operation.

Under this Policy, the farmers in the district concerned, form a Co-op Seed Cleaning Association, registered under the Co-op Act, also under the Securities Act. The cost of constructing and equipping the plant is divided amongst the Co-op, the Municipal Council, and the Department of Agriculture.
The Co-op sells shares to approximately one-third of the estimated cost, the Council provides a grant of approximately one-third, and the Department gives a grant equal to that of the Municipal District up to a present limit of $13,000. The cost of plants built previous to this year (1953) have cost between $37,000 and $40,000.
It is expected that increased material and labor costs, will put the cost of plants built this season
slightly over this mark.

One 25,000 bushel elevator was remodelled and equipped as a cleaning plant, at a cost of about $30,- 000. However, this building is not as flexible, or convenient to operate, as a properly designed plant.
This, coupled with the fact that the main part of the building is old, has discouraged us from rebuilding any more elevators.

Plants built under this policy,
and their dates of construction,
are as follows: Camrose, February 1949, Westlock and Wetaskiwin,
fall of 1949, Morinville, January, 1950, Marwayne, January, 1951,
Vegreville, fall of 1952, Rosebud,
February 1953, Strome, October, 1953.

Two other plants are under construction at present. One at Ver-million, which should be in operation in a few weeks, and one at Willingdon, which will not be in operation until next season. Two Districts are well along in their organization work, and should be ready to begin construction early in the spring, while two or three others are beginning to organize.

The management of the business of the plant is in the hands of a Board of Directors made up as follows: one to represent the Department of Agriculture, the District Agriculturist, two recommended by the Service Board, and appointed by the Council, and either four or six shareholders elected by the shareholders. This gives the farmer shareholders a voting majority on the directorate at all times.

The operation of the plant is carried on by the Manager, who is hired by the Directors on a yearly basis. He hires temporary or seasonal help as required.

The plants are established for the cleaning of cereal seed primarily, but at times when there is no seed offered for cleaning, they do clean some market grain to dock-age, and in some cases rough-clean forage seed.

These plants act as distributing centres, as well as cleaning centres. Farmers who wish to buy seed lift their requirements with the manager, also farmers having surplus seed for sale list this with the manager, who can bring buyer and seller together.

In the case of district-wide shortages, the plants can bring in car lots of seed, clean it, and distribute
it. On the other hand, when a district has a surplus of seed that is wanted in other areas, the plant
can assemble this seed, clean it,
and ship in car lots to any district
in the Province that requires it.
This service is not available
through any other agency.

These plants are set up as a service to the community, and not as money making concerns. They are expected to pay all operating and overhead expenses and to build up a reserve fund to guard against an off-season. Rates are kept as low as is possible to meet these conditions.

The first four plants built were larger than the later ones. The over-all bin capacities of these were between 17,000 and 19,000 bushels. Increased material costs made it necessary, beginning with the Marwayne plant, to reduce the size of the building. In order to stay within the limits of the money available. These later plants have over-all bin capacities between 10,000 and 11,000 bushels.
However, the machine or cleaning capacity is just as high as in the earlier plants.

Special care is taken to avoid mixing of grains etc. by lining the bins with Canada Plate (stove pipe material) and providing self-cleaning boots, gates, spouts, etc. and the use of steel lined, or steel heads, on all grain legs.

Several different cleaning machines have been tried out, and while all are giving good service
we are standardizing on a 54"
double shoe wind and screen machine, and a multiple cylinder indent machine, both provided with good aspirators. With this equipment, if the plants are used to near capacity, they can quite easily clean from 250,000 to 300,000
bushels per season.

All plants are equipped to treat seed for seed-borne diseases, or wire-worms, using only treatments
recommended by the Dominion Plant Pathology Laboratory. Special large capacity treaters have been designed and built and are in stalled in all the later plants.

It would appear that the plants are doing the work they were intended to do. Seed drill surveys show that the work done in the plants is superior to any of the other methods of cleaning. Farmers are patronizing the plants in increasing numbers each year.
Some are having seed cleaned months ahead. One plant cleaned 5,000 bushels of seed in July, 1953, for use in the spring of 1954. Quite a number of farmers are bringing their seed directly from the combine to the plant for cleaning and treating ready for next spring.

Also, all plants are paying all expenses and showing a surplus to be used in building up a reserve fund.

There is some variation in rates
charged, depending on local conditions, but the following is a fairly typical list of rates: Cleaning commercial seed—6 cents per bush.
Non-shareholders 8 cents per bush.
Registered or certified seed—10 cents per bushel. Sacking registered or certified seed—10 cents per sack, sacks extra. Handling sales through plant—2 to 5 cents per bushel depending on quantity.
Cleaning flax or forage seed—8 dollars per hour. Cleaning market grain to 1 percent dockage—2
cents per bushel.

It would appear that the present policy for establishing central seed cleaning plants is working out satisfactorily. This assumption is based on the increased patronage of the individual plants, except where the low quota on market grain held up farm bin space, and also on the increased demand for the building of plants in new areas.
Added to this, is the fact that the work done in the plants is superior to that of any other method of seed cleaning, as shown by the seed drill surveys which have been made.

Alberta used approximately 18-
000,000 bushels of seed grain.
Cleaning of this seed is accounted for approximately as follows:

Municipal Plants, 2,000,000 bushels; Other recognized plants, 3-500,000 bushels; Farm cleaners, Elevators. Not cleaned at all—12-500,000 bushels.

There are at present nine Municipal plants operating with the tenth to be completed within a very few weeks. Four areas are preparing to build next season.
However, the above figures show that many more are needed to ensure that Alberta farmers will be able to have their seed properly cleaned.

The Northwest Special is engineered and built to last. But when repairs are necessary, they can be accomplished quickly, easily and economically.

QUALITIES YOU DON'T WANT ARE ENGINEERED OUT

Too much valuable grain is left in the field by the ordinary pick-up. One operator picked up $31 worth of grain in 3 1/2 acre field with the Northwest Special after the field had been gone over by another pick-up!

In some pick-ups, fingers mounted on belts or conveyors cause back-feeding and shelling, necessitating the use of strippers, beaters and rollers. On the Northwest Special, fingers and belts are separate, fingers retract, hence delivery is smooth.

The Northwest Special not only won't flip rocks ahead or pick them up—it doesn't even disturb them.

Most pick-ups have to operate so close to the ground that they run into stones, or stall. Because of its long fingers with their brush-like efficiency, the Northwest Special can stay up high enough to avoid this difficulty.

See It For Yourself!

One of these pick-ups is now operating in the Vulcan district on the Clayton Clarkson farm. You are invited to see it in action.

District Agriculturist

Swine Improvement Policy

The Alberta Department of Agriculture is very interested in improving the quality of the livestock in the Province. It was because of this interest that the Swine Improvement Policy was put into effect some years ago.

Any bona fide farmer may use this policy to obtain a bacon type purebred boar, providing he is not selling pure-bred boars and sows for breeding purposes. Under the policy officials of the Department will locate suitable sires for the applicant, and pay the transportation costs involved in shipping the sire to the nearest railway shipping point of the applicant. Boars under five months of age cannot be obtained under this policy. Anyone wishing to make use of the policy for obtaining a sire this fall should apply in the near future. Application forms are available from your district agriculturist.

If the present price level for market hogs remains for the next three or four months, Yorkshire boars of serviceable age will be priced at a minimum of $85.00. Boars of top breeding quality will run around $100. Tamworth boars, generally speaking, will be $10 to $25 higher.

The regular monthly mail survey conducted by the Council of Canadian Meat Packers revealed that August was the first month since May 1953 when the trend of sow breedings was reported as falling below the same date a year earlier. Only three provinces showed this trend, but they were the major producing ones, Ontario, Quebec and Alberta. However, it will not be until the latter half of 1954 that any production adjustments made now will show up in marketings. For the next few months the hog marketing cycle will be on the ascendancy. The substantial increase in this year's Prairie pig crop will not be fully reflected in marketings until late October through December, if trends follow their normal seasonal course.
